Mars Hill College

The setting contributed nicely to our situation.

The campus became familiar and comfortable.

Community! We Understood

Community was a word we heard often at Mars Hill, and it became a word we understood and appreciated. We may not have known it at the time, but it was something we were in the process of becoming. When the 1991-92 school year began in late August, we were only partially community. Some of us had been at Mars Hill for one or two or three years — maybe even longer; but nearly half of us were newcomers. We had arrived fresh from distant places, different backgrounds, and other interests. Immediately we began the process of becoming a community.

We soon found that Mars Hill is a friendly place with helpful people who have a caring attitude. It is a place where newcomers are readily accepted. We felt comfortable despite the newness, despite being away from family and old friends. It helped to know that everyone was in the same boat, that we were away from home, on our own, and had a strong challenge ahead of us, the challenge of developing our minds, increasing our knowledge, developing and sharpening our skills. Naturally we felt a little fearful and uncertain, but we soon learned that Mars Hill was a good place to live out our college adventure.

Community! The word began to sound good.

Helpful faculty members make learning easier.

The reception at President Bentley's home is always an enjoyable experience.

Computers played a larger and larger roll in our busy lives.

Tuesday morning worship services in Broyhill Chapel helped us build a sense of community, and a clinging snowfall awed us with its beauty.

Moving in at the opening of the fall semester was made much easier and less hectic by the friendly Orientation Staff.

Starting Another School Year

The summer seemed terribly short, and almost before we realized it another school year was beginning. We looked forward to it, yet we dreaded it. Then, all of a sudden, we were caught up in all the excitement and activity of a new year. There were new friends to make, old friends to renew acquaintance with. There were assignments to be read, papers to be written, labs to perform, practices to be done. We joined student organizations and "unjoined" some. We became involved in a host of events and activities which claimed more of our time than we really had to spare.

We settled into a comfortable, although very busy, routine. We struggled to find time to be with our friends and still meet the demands of our professors. We watched summer fade and a beautiful autumn, with all its colors, envelop the campus. We shivered as winter blew in and swept fall away. We rejoiced in the beauty of a different season. Finally, we saw the dawning of spring and thrilled to its promise of new things.

A sense of accomplishment and pride rose within us as we saw evidence of our maturing, our growing, our rising confidence. We recognized ourselves as a community of learners.

Homecoming 1991

It Was Fun

This annual autumn celebration is always an enjoyable event. It brings hundreds of former students back to the campus for lively reunions with former classmates and friends. The '91 event was especially pleasant. The weather was perfect, the fall colors were awesome, and the parade, football game, and other activities were exciting. The entire weekend helped give us all — students, faculty and staff — a genuine sense of community.

Recognition of the Homecoming King and Queen was a highlight of the Saturday celebration. Sophomores Andy Thompson and Margie Myers were designated as the reigning royalty. Margie even got a kiss from President Bentley, and Andy received a plaque from Cub Berrian, president of the senior class.

The Bascom Lamar Lunsford Folk Festival coincided with Homecoming, and the local craftsmen added to the festivities.

The homecoming court included juniors Steve Waddell and Kim Thomas, sophomores Andy Thompson and Margie Myers, seniors Elke Worley and Neil Blankenship (not pictured), and freshmen Holly Pitt and Jay Moore. The "Alumni of the Year" were recognized at halftime at the football game: Sadie Wallen, Class of '44, escorted by Johnny Coffee; and Powell Nanney, Class of '37, escorted by Ruby Thompson Hooper.

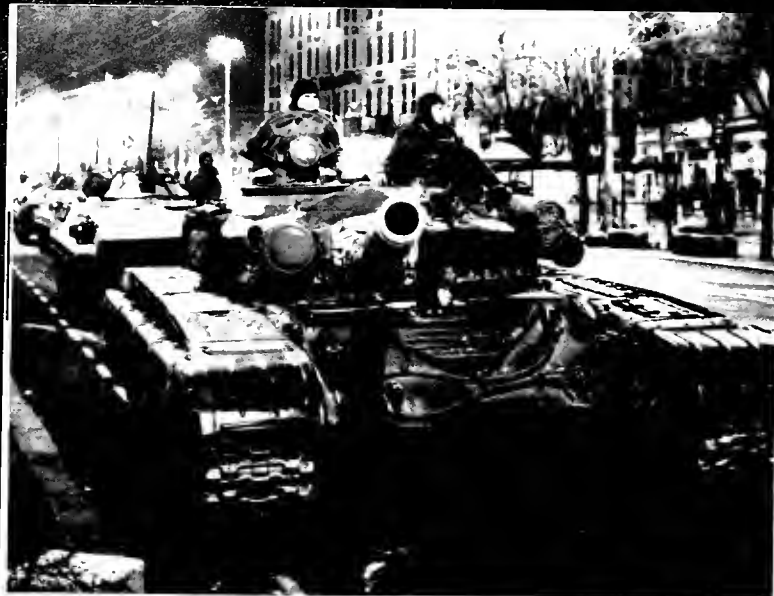

Entries in the homecoming parade were varied and colorful; even Cosmo the Cat was there with his "Cosmobile."

Alumni came from far and near to register their support for the college and to renew acquaintances with long-time friends.

Meanwhile Our

Although our interests were focused mainly on the campus and the immediate area surrounding it, we were keenly aware of what was going on in the rest of the world during the 1991-92 school year. The Soviet empire was crumbling with tanks in Yugoslavia and freedom demonstrations in Lithuania. President Bush's nomination of Judge Clarence Thomas for a spot on the Supreme Court brought accusations of sexual harrassment from law professor Anita Hill. Body-builder Arnold Schwarzenegger scored big with "Terminator 2: Judgment Day," at $90 million the most expensive movie ever made.

World ... Kept on Turning

Barbara Bush was proving to be a delightful, down-to-earth First Lady. In the financial world one of the major firms, Solomon Brothers, admitted violating U.S. Treasury rules on securities. It was a major Wall Street scandal which affected the NY Stock Exchange. Financial wizard Warren Buffett was brought in to rescue the firm. Aging Cuban dictator Fidel Castro found himself and his country isolated by the collapse of the Soviet empire.

Vanilla Ice, a rap star, scored big with his debut album which sold 6 million copies. An old favorite, Paul Simon, and a 17-piece band wow'd a huge audience with a concert in New York's Central Park. Mikhail Gorbachev overcame a coup with the help of Russian President Boris Yeltsin and raised the hopes of Moscovites in Red Square but later saw the Soviet Union splinter.

Elsewhere . . .

Anti-American sentiment continued to spread around the world with protests in the Philippines that encouraged the closing of U.S. military bases there. The aftermath of the war against Iraq was widespread destruction in Kuwait, including the burning of hundreds of oil wells, which had to be battled by firefighters in strange protective suits.

Students in Dr. Hoffman's political science classes got a first-hand report on world affairs from Sarah McClendon, 81, a White House correspondent who had bedeviled 10 U.S. presidents with her nagging, persistent, tough questions.

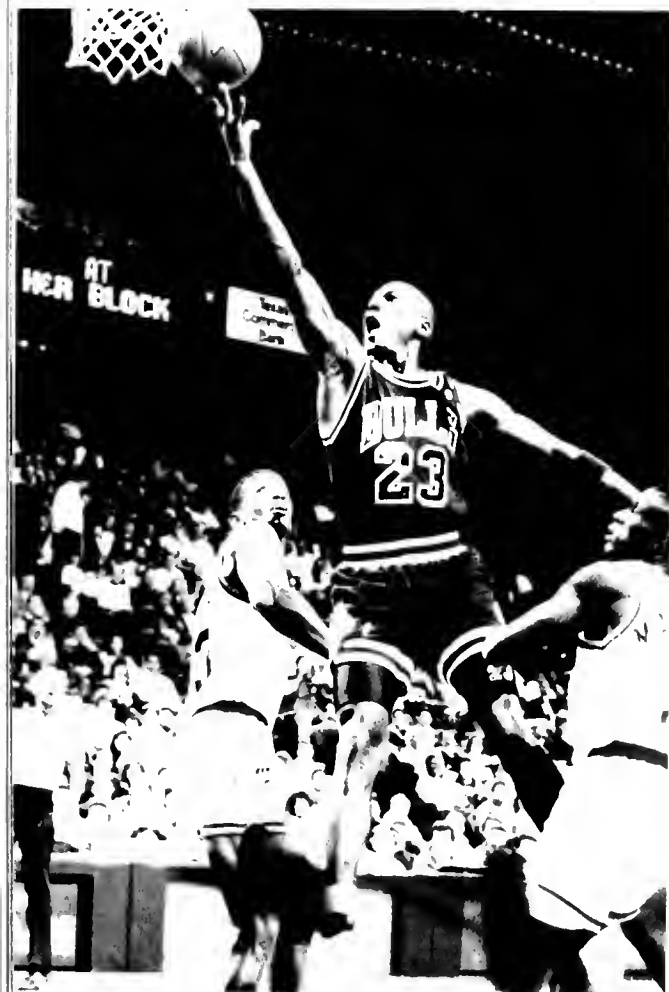

Individuals in the entertainment world, politics, and sports claimed much of our attention, Natalie Cole and Paula Abdul were two of the biggest names in show business, and Jerry Garcia was guitarist for a San Francisco-based group called Grateful Dead. In national and international politics we were familiar with Secretary of State James Baker and Vice President Dan Quayle. Closer home we saw two loyal and generous benefactors of the college, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merrill of Brevard, honored with an honorary doctorate and a distinguished service award.

In Our Time . . .

His name was an acronym for Ladies Love Cool James, and LL Cool J had a bevy of fans. The rap star was on the popular music charts for months. Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls was the epitome of professional sports, and songstress Amy Grant sold 10 million records world wide and won five Grammys. Magic Johnson of the LA Lakers shocked the sports world when he announced he was infected with the AIDS virus and was retiring from pro basketball to become an advocate of "safe sex."

ORGANIZATIONS

Students have always considered activities outside the classroom an important part of college life. No doubt members of the college band felt the same way when they posed for this picture on the central campus (note front of Spilman in upper left) in 1915.

Over the years the names and the activities of student organizations have changed greatly, but the ultimate purposes — fellowship, service, enjoyment, and experience — have not.

During the 1991-92 school year we were eagerly involved in a wide and varied assortment of organizations and activities. There was sufficient variety to satisfy most of our needs. We count the many hours of our involvement in these organizations among the most enjoyable, the most rewarding facets of our days at Mars Hill.

Surely the friends we made and the memories we gathered through our involvement in these organizations will linger in our hearts and minds for the remainder of our lives.

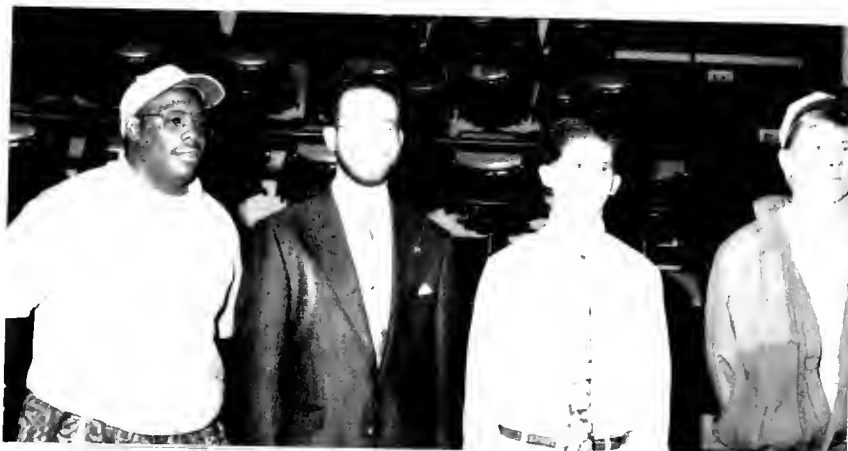

Student Government Association

Living on a college campus requires a lot of patience and cooperation. It calls for some social structure by which students may have some voice in formulating the rules which regulate their community life. The SGA serves this need effectively at Mars Hill. The various divisions of the full organization function well.

The Student Government Association is a broad-based group which represents all segments of the student body.

Christian Student Movement

As a Christian college Mars Hill tries to foster an atmosphere in which students can strengthen their faith, gain experience which will contribute to the development of their personal values, and have opportunities for witnessing and service. There are numerous organizations on the campus which fit into this over-all goal. CSM is the umbrella structure under which the wide variety of activities, events, and personnel can fit into the big picture.

The college employs a campus minister to help give guidance and coordination to the entire program; it also provides excellent facilities for the use of the various groups and their activities. Broyhill Chapel and its adjacent fellowship hall are handsome, useful facilities.

Put outstanding personnel, facilities, and programs together; and you have the ingredients needed to reach the goal of creating an atmosphere conducive to spiritual growth.

Iota Alpha Omega

The adventures of college life — fun and laughter, living in the dorms, studying together, sports, and the challenges of finding a niche in the adult world — are best shared in small circles of friends. For two groups of students a fraternity and a sorority, sort of officially affiliated, provide that shared friendship circle. Participating in the Homecoming parade is just one of many enjoyable activities.

Sigma Tau Delta

Circle K Club

Social Work Club

Phi Mu Alpha

Gateway

Going away from home to college can be a scary ordeal, and getting adjusted to a new living environment is never an easy task; but at Mars Hill the new students have plenty of help from a large group of friendly and experienced veterans — upperclassmen. Selected, trained and coordinated by the Office of Student Development, the Gateway group is the official welcoming committee at the beginning of the fall semester. It's a smiling, energetic, enthusiastic and helpful gang.

Psychology Club

Student Admissions Counselors

Delta Omicron

This music fraternity includes Sherry Anderson, president; Kimberly Walter; Crystal Grzella, historian; Ashley Zimmerman, public relations coordinator; Michelle Payne, vice president; Joann Jones, warden; Rachel B. Simmons, music director; Angie Shelton, secretary-treasurer; and Lisa Cox.

WVMH Staff

The college radio station, a 100-watt FM facility, is operated by students for the benefit of the student body. It is a popular communications medium, and to be able to grab a place on the staff is a coveted privilege. During 1991-92 the station was managed by John Disher and Jay Burleson with Jay Hirst of the Student Development staff as advisor.

Delta Kappa Theta

New Beginning Singers

This Christian music group finds rich and rewarding opportunities to share the faith of its members through song. The director during the 1991-92 academic year was Freddie Combs. John Snyder was the president, Tim Snyder was the treasurer and accompanist, and Crystal Heather was the secretary.

Gamma Chi Epsilon

Alpha Chi National Honor Scholarship Society

This most prestigious scholastic group at Mars Hill is open only to juniors and seniors in the top five percent of their classes with a GPA of not less than 3.5. Members are Gail Dillingham, Machel Cathey, April Phillips, Elke Worley, Wendy Miller, Tammy Condrey, Amy Marlowe Laughter, Dawn Tyler, Tara Dooley, Pamela Stewart, Wendy Fox, Ronya Banks, Joshua Wood, Beth Parrish, Jennifer Stamey, Cynthia Deyton, Julia Bates, Jennifer Enrich, Patrick Prince, Timothy Snyder, Rob Cothran, Brent Taylor, Jeffrey Wakefield, and Ronald Harrison. Faculty sponsors are Winona Bierbaum, Dr. Susan Kiser, and Harrell Wood; and, of course, the academic dean, Dr. Earl Leininger, has a special interest in the group.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

One of the largest chapters of this well-known group in the nation, the Mars Hill huddle involves dedicated students from all areas of campus life. The officers during 1991-92 are Todd Starkey, president; Betts Calloway, huddle leader; Lisa Bunce, secretary-treasurer; Suzi Holcombe, publicity coordinator; Suzanne Reece, music director; Todd Conard and Alex Cort, outreach leaders.

Zeta Chi Theta

Math and Computer Science Club

Recreation Majors Club

Ladies of Distinction

Staff of the 1992 Laurel

Cadenza

This literary/art magazine, published once a year in the spring, is a vehicle for students to express their creativity and imagination in essays, short stories, poems, photography, 2-dimensional and 3-dimensional art. Both the '91 and '92 editions were edited by Elke Worley (right), a multi-talented student who grew up in the college community.

Collegiathon Competition, Fall '91

Conceived by a Catawba College professor and first staged during the 1987-88 school year, Collegiathon encourages friendly athletic and intellectual competition among non-varsity students from several small colleges throughout the Carolinas. Events over the years have included bridge, chess, tennis, swimming, golf, track, and general information. Dr. Larry Stern has been Mars Hill's coordinator/coach from the very beginning.

In bridge competition, which was held at Mars Hill, the host team shared the winners' podium (upper photo) with #1 Lenoir-Rhyne and #3 Catawba. The Mars Hillians included Lynn Abney, Michael Roten, Shelley Hunt, and Rob Cothran. Played in the Lions Den of Wren College Union, the day-long bridge competition saw Rob and Shelley matched as partners (above). Lynn (upper right) and Michael (lower right) gave serious attention to their cards.

Callers are enthusiastic no matter which organization they represent. Craig Rogers, organizer and coordinator of the fund-raising project, poses with the Phonathon mascot, Cassidy.

Phonathon Helps Meet Big Need

Student organizations find the annual Phonathon a great opportunity to perform a useful service and also have some fun. A bank of telephones is set up in a comfortable spot, and a list of alumni and phone numbers provided. The student callers hit the former students for contributions/pledges to the college. There is competition to see who can secure the most gifts and the largest gifts, but there is also a spirit of teamwork toward a common cause.

The 1991 Phonathon, sponsored by the college's Development Office during November, raised almost $100,000 for the school's Loyalty Fund. The project, which ran for more than a week, was a lot of fun and filled a real need.

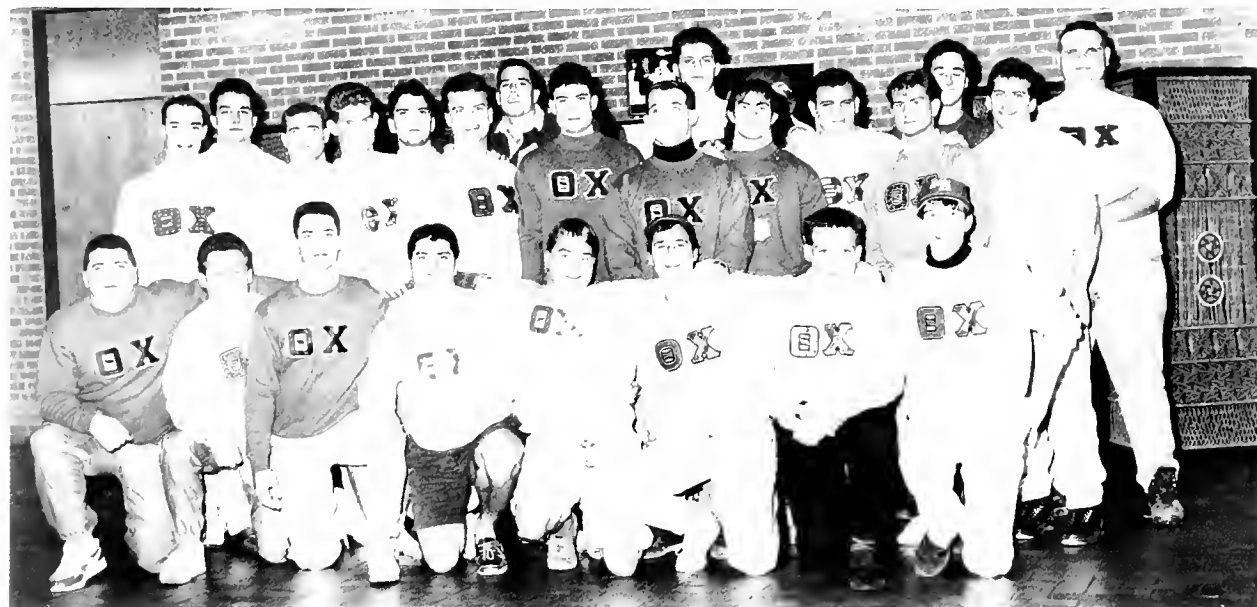

American Choral Directors Association

Mars High College enjoys a long and widespread reputation for the performance excellence of its various choirs. Concerts, convocations, chapel programs and other on-campus events give the choral groups ample opportunities to perform; and invitations to sing off-campus are more numerous than can be accepted. To be a member of one of these outstanding choirs is a distinct honor. The 1991-92 school year was a memorable time for these talented musicians and their director, Dr. Reed, and their accompanist, Cathy Adkins.

MHC Bands in the Spotlight

One of the liveliest organizations on the campus during their 1991-92 academic year was the college band program directed by Dr. Pete LaRue. It encompassed a marching unit, the jazz band, a concert group and (from time to time) various ensembles. The vigor and enthusiasm of the director was reflected in the student members, and the spirit was contagious for the student body and off-campus groups.

Home football games, homecoming, special convocations and celebrations, and seasonal concerts gave the bands opportunities to do their thing; and they did it well. The bands program not only helped foster a sense of community on campus; it helped spread the good word about Mars Hill College throughout the region.

SPORTS

Athletic competition, both the inter-collegiate kind and the intramural kind, is a natural and exciting part of college life. It has long been an important part of Mars Hill as this action shot of a home football game from the 1950's attests. The playing field looks familiar to a generation of alumni although strange to us who know the spot now as Meares Stadium, but we can all identify with the excitement of the event, whether we have known it as player or spectator.

The Mars Hill Lion and Lady Lion teams of the 1991-92 school year provided us thrills and adventure, a chance to be involved, a point of strong common interest. We did, indeed, know both the "thrills of victory" and the "agony of defeat."

It Was an Exciting Season

Despite the fact that their final tally was 3-7, the 1991 Lions played some exciting football, set some noteworthy records, and created some pleasant memories for themselves and their fans.

Usually extra tough on defense, the team proved weaker than expected in both offense and defense. Instead of challenging for the South Atlantic Conference championship as had been expected, it finished at the bottom of the league standings.

The Lions started explosively with a 29-0 victory over Charleston Southern but then experienced consecutive losses to Catawba, 33-6; Wingate, 25-19; Concord, 21-20; Elon, 54-19; Carson-Newman, 57-15; and Presbyterian, 35-30.

They bounced back into the win column with a pleasing 38-18 victory over former junior college rival Lees-McRae, playing its first season as a four-year school. Then came the most exciting, satisfying win of all, a 35-14 upset of league-leader Lenoir Rhyne. It proved to be the only victory for the Lions in the SAC-8. The finale was a 42-18 loss to Gardner-Webb. That left Coach Felton Stephens with disappointment in his fourth season as the Lions' head mentor.

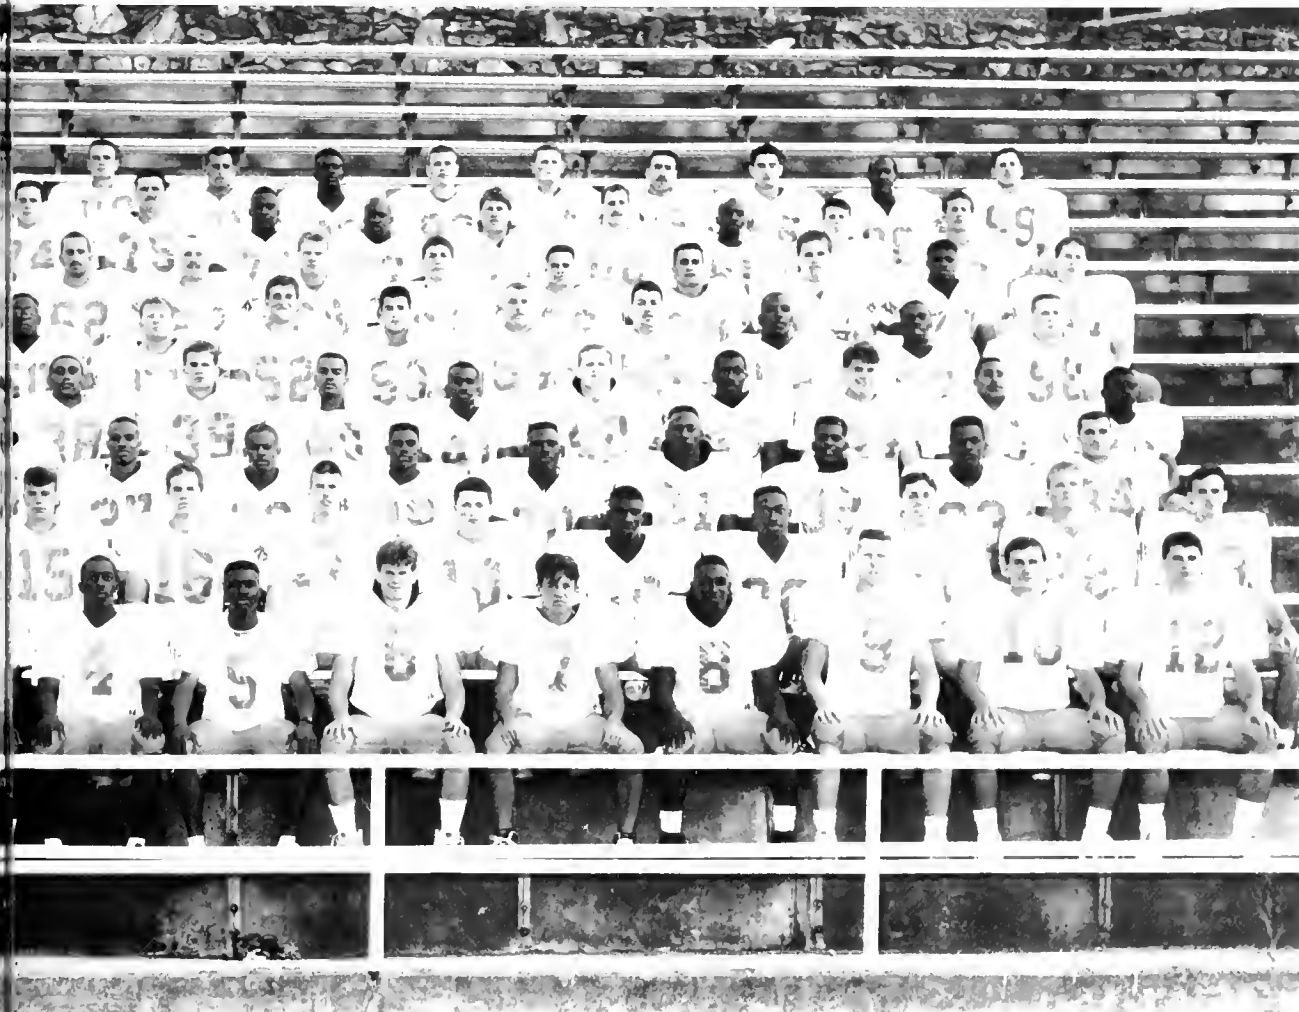

Although the team did not fare well, several players had excellent seasons. Wide Receiver Derrick Sharpe snagged 40 passes and earned a spot on the all-conference first team. Defensive back Antwine Harris and defensive lineman Thomas Williams were named to the all-conference second team.

Derek Gibson proved to be a great offensive weapon with his kick returns, running and pass receiving.

Senior running back Elijah Askew led the ground attack, and Jeff Bailey and Jimmy Bell sparked the aerial game. Matt Spicer also saw action at quarterback.

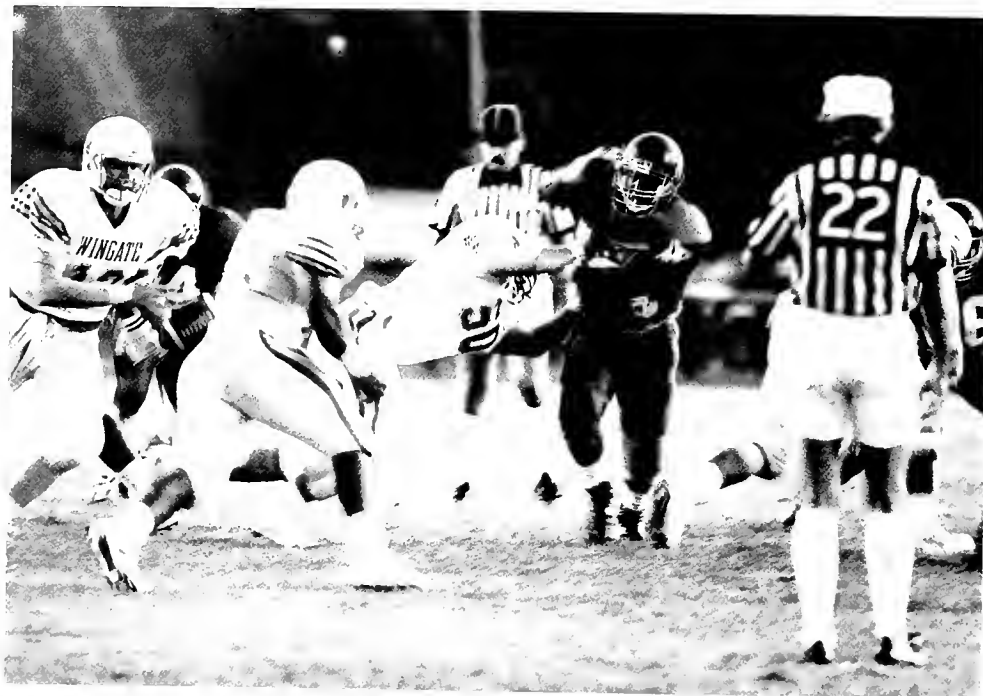

Defensive lineman Brent Taylor was chosen as the SAC-8 Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Surveying the situation.

'91 Volleyball

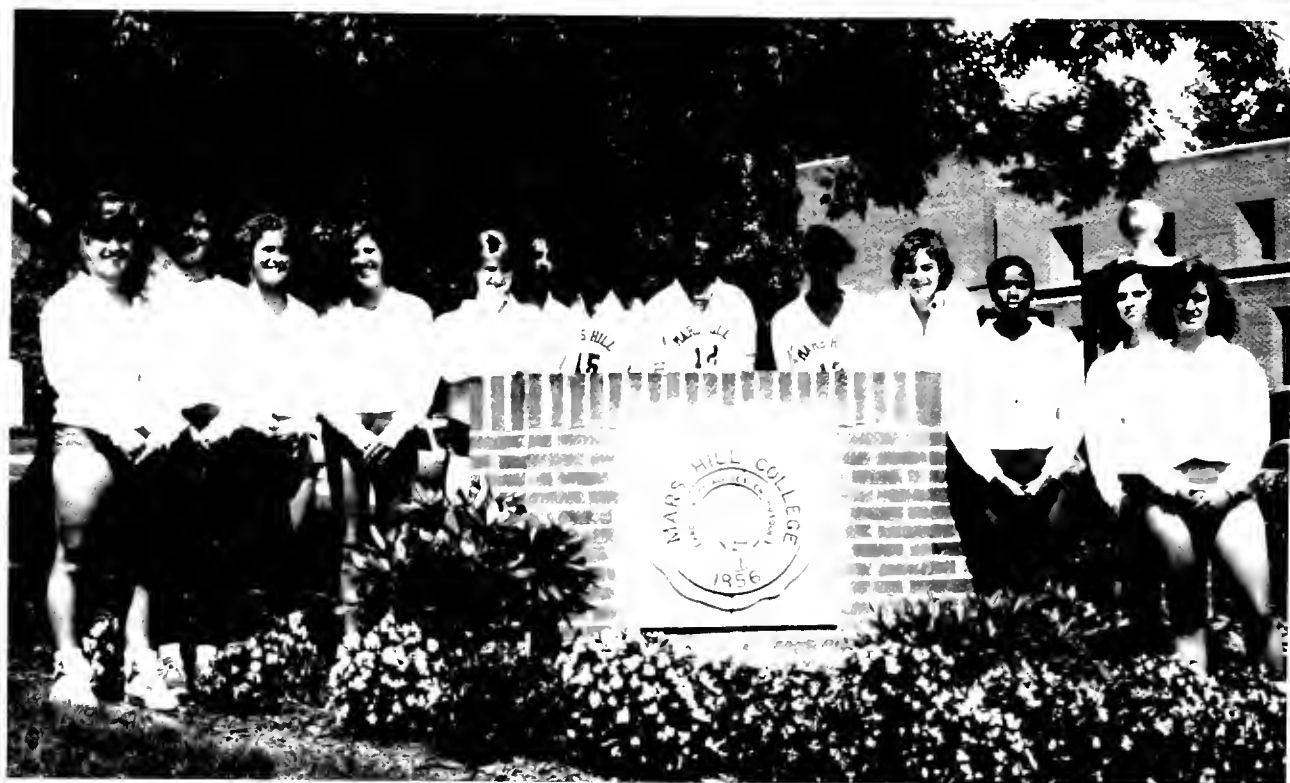

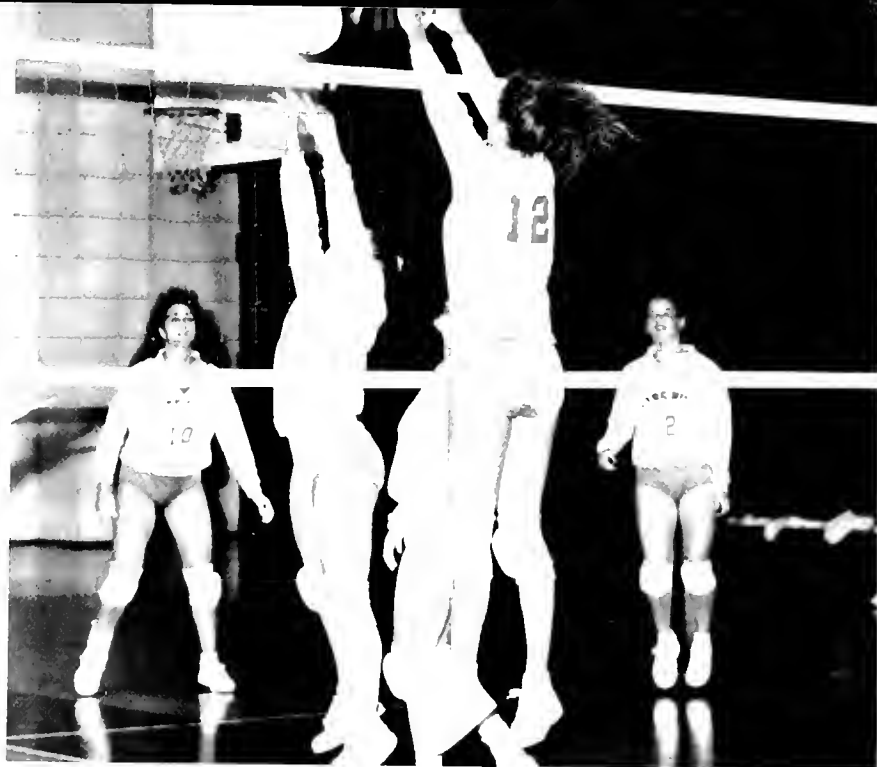

Playing its first season under Coach Beth Alms, the Lady Lions finished fifth in the South Atlantic Conference and fourth in the post-season tournament.

Angie Wilmore, senior outside hitter, had 32 kills in tournament matches and was the only player chosen for the all-tourney squad who did not play in the finals.

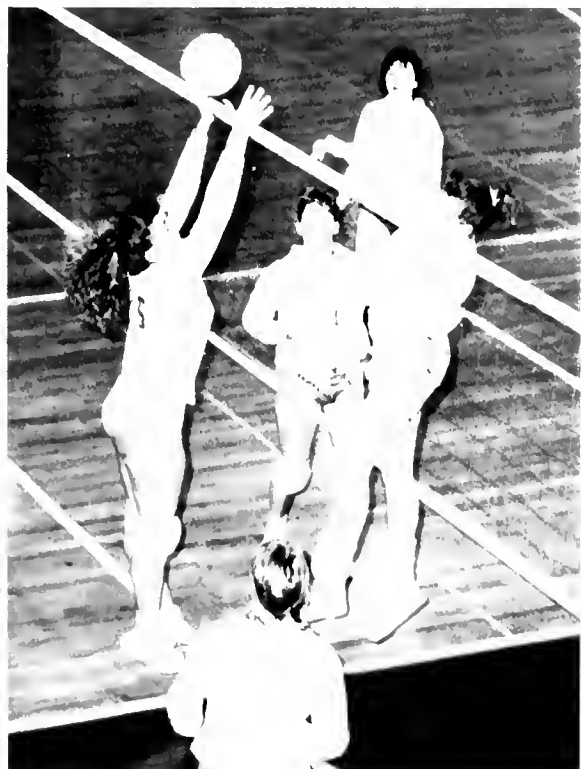

The squad opened the double-elimination tournament with a 2-1 victory over Carson-Newman; then, however, they ran into the eventual tournament champion, Presbyterian, which was undefeated at that point and sporting a 37-0 record.

The Mars Hillians bounced back with a 2-0 win against Gardner-Webb but then lost a heart-breaker to Elon 14-16. That made their final record 15-18.

Senior outside hitter Cartrina Williams was named all-conference.

The Lions compiled their best record (4-5-4) since the sport was introduced on campus in 1983, raising hopes for even better days to come.

The team had a chance for a winning record but dropped its final game to SAC-8 foe Presbyterian. Even so, Coach Chris Crist (right) voiced his pride in the squad's dramatic improvement from its 2-13 record a year earlier.

Senior forward Marty Standridge led the Lions in scoring and was named to the all-conference second team. In the next-to-last game he scored three of the team's six points.

Midfielder Jason Taylor earned "Player of the Week" recognition in October for outstanding play against Gardner-Webb, Coker and Central Wesleyan.

Cheers Cheering Cheerleaders

Athletic teams thrive on vocal support; and the Mars Hill Lions get plenty of such backing from their fans, thanks to an energetic, enthusiastic, talented group of cheerleaders. They go beyond the call of duty, in all kinds of weather, and under all sorts of conditions to get the fans charged up and to let the players know that they're appreciated. Theirs is a job that calls for dedication and sacrifice as well as skill and dexterity.

Lions Competitive Despite Adversity

For the second straight year misfortune struck the Mars Hill basketball program, keeping the 1991-92 team from reaching its pre-season potential. Tony King (right), a senior and one of the top returnees from 1990-91, was stricken with cancer and lost for the year. Although the team rallied from that blow and played its heart out during the remainder of the season, it never reached its anticipated potential. In fact, the loss of Tony may have helped the remaining players to play better; but the teams' final wins/losses record of 10/18 shows the realistic effects.

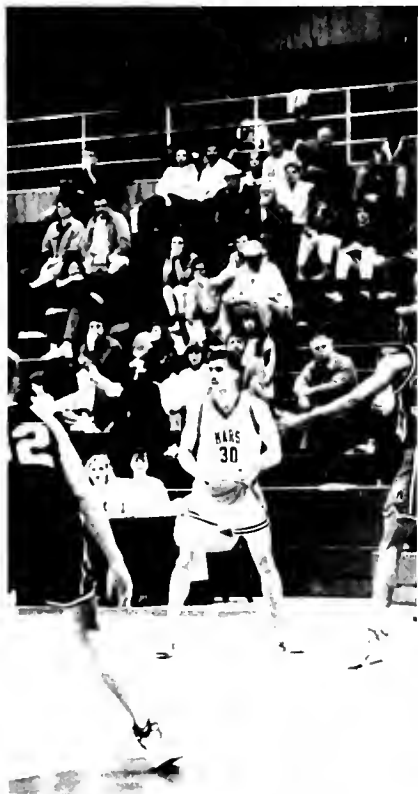

Coach David Riggins and his assistant, David Conrady, forged a strong relationship with the '91-'92 team; and Lion fans were treated to some exciting performances on the court in Chambers Gym. Once again both players and spectators were reminded that the final score, the ratio of wins to losses, are not really the full measures of the value of athletic programs. To play well, to compete strenuously, to face challenges while maintaining high standards of honesty and fairness, to offer entertaining and exciting performance — these are important factors too.

Lady Lions Put Together Exciting Season

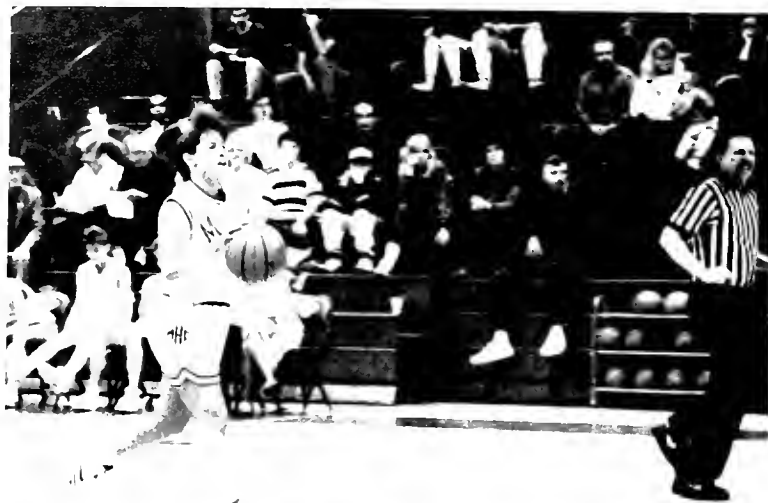

With excellent teamwork, continued sparkling performances by a pair of exceptional shooters/rebounders, Keitha Tinsley and Sonia Gahagan, spirited performances by other team members, and wise coaching by Susan Blakely and Lloyd Moore, the 1991-92 Lady Lions were outstanding and exciting. Their final record was 14-13, respectable even if not spectacular.

An enjoyable trip to the Bahamas in January to participate in the famed Goombay Shootout proved good experience and provided lasting memories.

Spring '92 Lions

Baseball traditionally battles winter cold, spring rains, and an early commencement at Mars Hill. That means practice has to begin in the fall with official competition in the spring. This "split season" helps to sustain enthusiasm for the sport among both fans and players. The 1991-92 MHC baseball team displayed a lot of talent and an abundance of energy and hustle. Too bad the spring portion of the season couldn't have continued into the warmer days of summer.

Lady Lion Netters Accept Challenges

Tennis is a sport that requires keen concentration as well as dexterity and stamina. Members of the Mars Hill intercollegiate squad during 1991-92 faced these facts determined that they would play hard and well to represent themselves and the school. They honed their skills during fall practice under the leadership of Ed Hottmeyer and played their best during the "real" season in the spring under the coaching of Paul Dempsey.

The Netters

Tennis is definitely a seasonal sport at Mars Hill. The weather is suitable for it in the fall and the spring but not during the winter. The Lion netters prepare for spring competition by rigorous practice in the fall. The result is usually very satisfactory. During 1991-92 Coach David Conrady had some excellent talent to work with.

Sports Medicine Combines Academics, Service

Athletic training education is a rapidly growing academic discipline whose graduates are in demand. Mars Hill's program, which is coordinated by Ben Velasquez, gives students the professional knowledge and the practical experience to help them qualify for certification by the National Athletic Trainers Association.

The program serves the heavy needs of the total Lion intercollegiate athletics program.

New Coach, New Spirit Motivate Lions

Softball, which has to cope with cold weather and a short season just like other Mars Hill spring sports, made a new start in the spring of 1992. Beth Alms (left) took over the coaching reigns and began instilling a new enthusiasm in the team. Pride was evident from the opening of practice early in February and continued through a 14-game schedule in March and April plus tournaments in Salisbury and North Myrtle Beach during March. Opponents included familiar old rivals such as Carson-Newman, Elon, Gardner-Webb, Catawba, Lenoir-Rhyne, and Wingate — all South Atlantic Conference foes — plus UNC—Asheville, King, Tusculum, Milligan, and Montreat-Anderson.

The SAC tournament was scheduled on the Carson-Newman campus in Jefferson City, TN, Apr. 16-18 with the winner going to a district tourney on Apr. 21-22.

Even though the weather was not always conducive to an outside sport, the Lady Lions relished the challenge of keen competition.

The Champs

When the dust had settled and the bruises had begun to heal, the "Free Agents" reigned as champions of fall-season flag football. The players must have been shy, though, for only three showed up to have this picture made: (left to right) Jeff Payne, Jackie Shelton, and Jamie Calloway. Not present: Mark Littlejohn, Marty Ledford, Van Matthews, Chris Mills, and Kevin Boone.

Flag football competition generated a lot of action and enthusiasm at the playing field next to Broyhill Chapel.

Intramural Competition Serves Student Body

A vigorous and exciting program of athletic competition "within the walls" of the college is organized and coordinated through the Student Development Office. The director during 1991-92 was Lori Oliver-May (right in the photo at the left). Her student assistant was Tammy Jones.

Running from the opening of school in the late summer through early spring, the intramural program attracted a large group of students with a variety of competitive activities.

Champions Also

Action in women's basketball was usually loud and exciting.

Basketball Action Was Always Keen

CLASSES

Students have always been the core of Mars Hill College, the reason for its existence. Students bring eager, inquiring minds to the educational adventure. They offer their bodies, their spirits, their energy, their personal values in the process of maturing, growing, becoming, being. Their progress is evident as they move through the four classes. They advance from enthusiastic but uncertain freshmen to confident and competent seniors; and that advancement gives them a sense of accomplishment and pleasure. The journey validates the worthiness of the educational endeavor.

The students who enlivened the campus in the 1920's knew the joys of their common adventure just as do the students of the 1990's.

ADMINISTRATORS FACULTY AND STAFF

Students are the most important people in a college; but the trio of administrators, teachers, and support personnel is also essential just as this small group (including the president, Dr. R. L. Moore, in the center) were in the 1909-1910 era at Mars Hill.

Administrators

Faculty Is Foremost

The teaching faculty of every college and university is of primary importance. These dedicated, well-certified men and women impart their knowledge and their zest for learning to us, their students, in ways which produce confidence and competence. Many of them become role models for us; they influence our attitudes and our values. At Mars Hill they are an integral segment of the circle we call "community."
